Soviet Naval Vessels in the Harbor of Ventspils

25X1

1. A Soviet submarine [REDACTED] was observed [REDACTED] moving on a northwest course at 1100 (A) hours on 21 April 1956, outside of the Ventspils harbor entrance. The submarine, which was about 70 to 75 meters long, had a high bow, a deck which sloped toward the water line aft, and a stepped conning tower with ports on the foreside. The tower, which was about 15 meters long, was located amidships. (See Sketch No. 1, page 6.) Two guns, which were about 40 mm caliber, protruded from the forward side of the bottom step of the conning tower. No periscope or snorkel was observed. [REDACTED] the submarine departed the harbor area at 0645 GMT on 21 April and returned on 25 April. [REDACTED] the submarine [REDACTED] near the city quay with its screw turning. (See Sketch No. 2, page 6.) [REDACTED] UNCODED a submarine [REDACTED] the two barrels in the gun turret were in vertical order. 25X1
2. [REDACTED] a tender of about 5,000 tons, [REDACTED] (see Sketch No. 3 page 7). [REDACTED] an old naval vessel [REDACTED] to be a repair ship. (See Sketch No. 4, page 7.) 25X1
3. The following observations were made [REDACTED] near the city quay on [REDACTED] 25X1
  - a. Five large minesweepers [REDACTED] All of these vessels, [REDACTED] had searchlights and radar on the truck of the mast.<sup>2</sup> 25X1
  - b. Other vessels [REDACTED] and two similar vessels [REDACTED] 25X1

- c. Smaller minesweepers, [redacted]
- d. A corvette-like vessel [redacted]
- e. Sailors received three rubles for a tie, 150 rubles for a jacket, and 75 rubles for a shirt of average quality, on the black market in Ventspils.

4. The following observations were made [redacted]

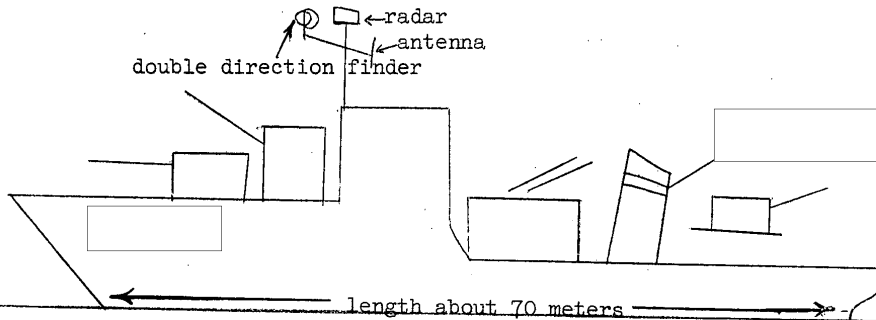

- a. A naval vessel, which was about 90 meters long, [redacted]
The vessel's one gun forward and one gun aft had a barrel about eight to ten meters long. A twin anti-aircraft gun was observed amidships on each side and before the stack. The vessel was equipped with minesweeping equipment. The following is a sketch of the vessel:

5. The following observations [redacted]

- a. At 1200 (A) hours on 21 April, a Soviet naval vessel [redacted]
The vessel moved about and inspected anchored ships, and then, at an average speed, moved westward. A naval vessel [redacted] was observed [redacted] near the city quay. The following is a sketch of the vessel:

6. The following observations [redacted] 25X1
- a. Six naval vessels which were smaller than the submarine [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] The vessels were moored in tiers of two, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] The vessels, which were about 25X1
- 40 to 50 meters long, had flush decks [redacted] a box- 25X1
- shaped bridge without radar, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted], and a raked funnel with a raked cowling, which 25X1
- was slightly higher than the bridge. On the foredeck of the vessels was a 25X1
- shielded gun, which was about 75 mm in caliber. A large amount of 25X1
- antiaircraft ordnance was on the afterdeck. A minelaying rack or depth 25X1
- charge rack was on each side of the afterdeck. There were no torpedoes 25X1
- on the vessels.
- b. Fourteen [redacted] patrol vessels which were similar to the German R-boats. 25X1
- Six additional patrol boats were observed out from the winter harbor.
- c. Four small modern minesweepers ashore, east of the winter harbor.
- d. Vertical bows of four old medium-size vessels in the winter harbor [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
7. The following observations [redacted] near the city quay [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- a. About 14 submarine chasers, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] Radar on one of the vessels was 25X1
- turning eight revolutions per minute.
- b. Twelve small minesweepers, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- c. One large minesweeper [redacted] 25X1
- d. Five similar vessels, smaller than the submarine chasers. [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- e. Three MTBs.<sup>5</sup>
8. The following observations were made [redacted] 25X1
- a. Seven small destroyer-like vessels, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- b. One MTB.<sup>6</sup>
- Radar in the Harbor of Ventspils
9. Radar, which resembled in size and shape a regular merchant ship's radar, [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] 25X1
- a 15-m high radar tower, which was located near the west mole, to have an 25X1
- egg cup antenna and a parabolic antenna. [redacted] the 25X1
- tower had a small scanner and was 12 to 15 meters high (see Sketch No. 5, 25X1
- page 7 ), [redacted] the scanner was about 20 meters 25X1
- above the water and that it was the same height as a pilot tower (see Sketch C, 25X1
- page 3 ). [redacted] the radar was not in use during 25X1
- the periods of observation. [redacted] the radar station, 25X1
- which had an ordinary scanner, was located at the end of the southern pier, and 25X1
- that it had an iron pylon which was about 30 meters high. [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] a similar radar station was located about 1,000 25X1
- meters north of the harbor near the shore.<sup>7</sup> [redacted] these 25X1
- two stations were frontier guard stations.
- [redacted] 25X1
